Open Autocad and there should be a new project called "DWG to CNC" or something like that. Select this project. Open Autocad's 'Import' menu and click on the "Import" function. In the 'Open' dialog, navigate to your digital file and open it. Click the 'Finish' button. You should now be able to see the digital file in your active CAD project. If you want to add the files to the existing project, simply select the 'Add' function in the import dialog and insert the DWG file, then save your active project. Q: Laravel 5.2 : How to add validation to my input field? I want to validate my input field. If input contains invalid, i want to generate an error message and redirect it back to the same page. How can I do that? Note: My input field comes from form request and I can't generate error message in the same page. I have to render a message on the same page. Here is my code below HTML : JS : $('#submit-button').click(function(event) { event.preventDefault(); var subject = $('input[name="subject"]').val(); if (!subject) { console.log('subject is empty.'); return false; } }); I tried to make it validation in Laravel 5.2 using ajax but failed to get the answer. I don't know how to achieve that. Blade : {{ csrf_field() }} {{ method_field('patch') }}
