Now you can use this accessible Python instrument to build all the PDF files you need or want. But in this tutorial we will work with all the features of pypdg. After finishing this tutorial you will be able to create PDF files, even if you don't have any knowledge about Python Programming Language. Objectives: In this tutorial, we will cover the main features of the software. This will be useful for people who want to start using pypdg. Files: File 1: The pypdg software has three main files: Pypdg.py: This is a Python file that contains most of the procedures. Pypdg.exe: This is the executable file that has the procedures for building the PDF document. pypdg.cfg: This is the configuration file of the software. Run pypdg.exe: After the pypdg software is installed, you have to run it. To do this, open the Start Menu, and type pypdg. What you can do with pypdg: You can create a book with a word processor and/or you can use the built-in dictionary. You can make a Pdf file and use it with a regular computer without additional software. You can use it as a programmer to make Pdf documents. You can use it as an assistant for the help of others. Pypdg Key features: There are many more features, but we will focus on the most important. You can read them in the User's Manual file that can be found in the \Support\LocalUser_Manual.pdf file. -- Installation: The pypdg software is a zip file. You should download this file from the www.pypdg.org website. The pypdg.exe file is used to install the software. You have to install it in your operating system and execute it. If you do it, the pypdg.cfg file will be created automatically. This file can be found in the \Support\Local\pypdg.cfg file. Note: This file was generated automatically when the software was
